

Garden Lecture

HOW TO DEER-PROOF YOUR GARDEN

Featuring Sandy Baker, 'The Deer Doctor'

Is your garden attracting those hungry four-legged herbivores that love bushy cover, peace and quiet, and delicious vegetation? Learn all about the five strategies that, individually or combined, can effectively deer-proof your garden. You will find out why some things work some of the time, and why those same things don't work all of the time. By learning about the behavior of white-tailed deer, you will be better equipped to design a plan to deer proof your garden.

Sandy Baker is a national consultant and has spent years cultivating expert resources. She has presented her workshop at several Flower and Garden Shows, and many nature centers, public libraries and garden clubs. As a life-long organic gardener and previous owner of a retail greenhouse and nursery business, she is familiar with plant materials and related products. Sandy stays abreast of new products and technology regarding deer-proofing and has had the input from thousands of workshop participants who have developed many clever solutions to the deer-human conflict.

Tuesday August 11 at 7 p.m.
Grand Haven Community Center
421 Columbus, Grand Haven, MI 49417
Suggested Donation $3.00 or 2 Guests for $5.00

For more information, contact: defendurbanwildlife@gmail.com

<http://www.defendurbanwildlife.org>